COLLEGE YOUTH IS KILLED WHEN TRUCK CRASHES

Albert Ley, 40, Pittsburgh, driver of the truck, died Friday afternoon, The Times learned this morning.

A Gettysburg college student was killed and a truck driver seriously injured about 6 o'clock Friday morning when the tractor-trailer in which they were riding left the Lincoln highway on Scrub Ridge four miles west of McConnellsburg.

The dead youth was identified as William Robert Winters, 20, of Butler. He presumably was killed in the cab as the truck, laden with two giant steel wheels that weighed 24,565 pounds, rolled down a 100-foot embankment. His left arm was torn off.

Winters was a freshman at college last year and was a member of the freshman football squad.

Albert Ley, about 40, of Pittsburgh, identified as the driver of the truck, was removed to the Fulton County Medical center at McConnellsburg where his condition was regarded as grave. He was unconscious. State Policeman W. R. Lammie gave blood for a transfusion for the critically injured trucker.

Snaps Eight Posts
Sgt. R. E. Sprengle, of the McConnellsburg substation, said since Ley could not be questioned state police were without information as to the cause of the accident.

The truck, bound for Pittsburgh with its cargo, left the highway on the left side, uprooting eight posts of a guard-rail fence and snapping off trees as it rolled down the embankment.

Registration cards showed the truck belonged to William P. Logan, of R. 1, Eighty-Four, Washington county.

Winters' body was removed to the Siles funeral home at Harrisonville, six miles west of McConnellsburg, and his father, A. J. Winters, notified through the Butler state police substation.

3,000 CHERRY PICKERS EARN OVER $250,000

Adams county's annual cherry harvest ended Friday, and some 3,000 who took part in the harvest have earned approximately $250,000 in gathering about 8,000,000 quarts of cherries.

The figures are estimates based on the fact that the cherry crop lasted for three weeks in most orchards. Men familiar with the industry estimated that "at least 3,000" pickers, mostly youngsters and youths, took part in the harvest. One of the largest orchards in the county placed an estimate of $30 a week average income for its nearly 1,000 workers as "probably a low figure." The amount would represent $5 a day for a six-day week.

Some cherry pickers earned around $15 a day during much of the three-week period, while others, particularly the smaller youngsters, worked for a few dollars a day.

The cherry crop this year was described as "substantial," and the season in most orchards lasted a little longer than most years, due to the larger than usual crop. Throughout the state the crop was estimated to run about 5,000,000 quarts more than last year, and the Adams county area is the largest cherry growing section in the state.

With the close of the cherry picking season, many farmers were getting ready for the annual tomato harvest, which will begin about mid-August and reach its peak about Labor Day. The tomato harvest usually runs into September and early October. Peaches will also soon be ready for harvest followed by the peak apple harvest in the fall.

Truman Accuses Russia Of Making War-Like Plans Around The World

Detroit, July 28 (AP)—President Truman bitterly accused Russia today of making dangerous, war-like military preparations "around the world" and warned his country to get ready for "any emergency."

Mr. Truman questioned whether the Communists "really desire peace in Korea" since, he said, Soviet rulers "are putting themselves in a position where they can commit new acts of aggression at any time."

And he assailed administration critics at home for "trying to stir up trouble and suspicion between the people and their government."

"They are using the smear and the big lie for personal publicity and partisan advantage, heedless of the damage they do their country," he asserted. "Never, not even in the bitterest political campaigns, have I seen such a flood of lies and slander as is now pouring forth over the country."

Mr. Truman flew here from Washington to address an outdoor audience in Cadillac square in front of the city hall as part of this industrial city's 250th anniversary celebration.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Although court manners and stuffy decorum were in a high state of development in the 1600's and 1700's, it appears that "no holds were barred" when our ancestors sat down to eat.

Research experts, digging into the murky past to trace the table manners of the French and English, have unearthed CIVILITE, a book on etiquette written by a fore-runner of our Emily Post.

CIVILITE, written in the 1700's, warns that "a guest must not lick his fingers or wipe them on bread," and the hostess is asked "to serve viands with a fork, not with the fingers." Soup must have been quite thick in those days, as CIVILITE states that "soup should not be eaten with a fork."

When a lady drank, the servant was required to "hold a napkin under her chin to catch the drippings." Guests were advised to wash their hands before dining, and CIVILITE quite sensibly points out that "a dry corner should be left on the towel for the person who is to use it next."

General rules of table conduct caution the guest against scratching himself in company, snuffing the candle with his fingers, blowing in the soup, and returning meat to the main dish after smelling it. Also, the well-bred guest must not pocket the fruit when dessert is served and must not put a second morsel in his mouth before the first has been swallowed.

Chow-hounds of French and English society were curbed by the paragraph which reads, "If the plate before you is empty, do not scrape it with your fingers—ask for another. Make as little noise as possible when swallowing. Do not pile up your plate 'til it overflows. Do not on any count clutch your plate as if you felt someone would snatch it from you."

Undoubtedly this book of rules indicates that dining less than 300 years ago was a rugged affair. However, researchers wonder how our etiquette books will seem when read in the 2200's!

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, July 28 (AP)—United Nations and Communist cease-fire teams clashed head-on today over the thorny problem of a military buffer zone across the Korean peninsula.

Gen. Nam Il, chief Red envoy, stated the Red position "with more force and nerve than on any previous occasion," an eye-witness said. But at the end of two hours and 25 minutes, both sides held stubbornly to their earlier positions.

The Reds want the buffer line along the 38th Parallel. The U. N. allies want it along the present battle line.

Air force Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, who attended today's three sessions, said there was no indication of an area of agreement. Both sides refused to budge.

Negotiators Are "Cool"

A heavy rain hammered down on the former Kaesong restaurant as the grim negotiators faced each other across the greentopped conference table. The atmosphere in the room was officially described as "cool military formality."

The phrase was not elaborated, but it recalled a description of the first meeting of liaison officers in the same room July 8.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney said the tone of that first meeting was "military courtesy—a cold way of not being exactly hostile."

Nuckols said the positions of the two sides today were "reasonably clearcut, but there is a considerable difference between the positions."

Concerning Nam, Nuckols said, "I wouldn't say he was belligerent, but he certainly was forceful."

CONTROLS BILL GOES TO HOUSE

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Senate approval of a new economic controls bill—permitting some price and rent rollbacks and opening the way for some increases—shifted the controversial measure to the House today.

House leaders plan to call it up for a vote Monday. They predicted passage, which would send it to President Truman just a day before the present law expires at midnight Tuesday.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote last night shortly after a Senate-House committee had completed work on a compromise version of separate measures approved earlier by the two branches.

The new bill would control wage, price, rent and other emergency controls through June—12 months less than Mr. Truman asked. It would relax consumer credit curbs.

Lawmakers generally expected Mr. Truman to sign the bill, with perhaps a protest that it calls for easing controls in too many cases and gives him scarcely any of the additional anti-inflation powers he requested.

The new price control provision authorize price rollbacks to pre-Korea levels for non-farm commodities, provided that cost increases which occurred last Thursday are taken into account in fixed ceilings.

Senators who helped draft the compromise measure said the cost increase formula also will result in some "roll forwards." One Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) observer estimated off-the-cuff it would boost automobile price ceilings about 10 per cent.

Dog Nips Babe And Infant Bites Boxer

Chicago, July 28 (AP)—Baby Virginia Brosseau bit her dog, Angel, yesterday, apparently trying to even the score with the big pedigreed boxer.

Angel, six months old, was a puppy when she was bought by Virginia's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Brosseau. She had a habit of playfully seizing Virginia's hands between her teeth and exerting a little pressure—but not enough to hurt the nine-month-old baby. Angel, who weighs about 35 pounds, did it again yesterday.

Virginia, who has six teeth, retaliated. She grabbed Angel's paw, put it in her mouth and bit. Angel howled, backed away and brooded over the imprint left by Virginia's teeth.

But after Mrs. Brosseau bandaged Angel's paw she resumed playing with Virginia.

Driver, 20 Passengers Hurt In Bus Crash

Somerset, Pa., July 28 (AP)—Twenty persons on a New York to Pittsburgh Greyhound bus were injured late yesterday when the bus ripped into the rear of a truck loaded with steel on the Pennsylvania turnpike.

The bus driver, William Bigley, 30, of North Braddock, Pa., was pinned in the cab as the entire front end of the bus was squashed in. A passing army convoy used heavy wreckers to rip apart the crushed vehicle to get him out.

Bigley suffered a compound leg fracture and other injuries and was taken to Somerset hospital in serious condition. Four of the 19 injured passengers were admitted to the hospital but none was in serious condition, the hospital reported. The truck driver, Maurice J. Ostroff, Uniontown, Pa., was unhurt.

State police were unable to determine the cause of the accident. The scene of the wreck was about 55 miles east of Pittsburgh near the Laurel Hill tunnel.

Douglas To Oppose Truman Appointees

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Armed with a quotation from Martin Luther, Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) was embarked on what he calls a "struggle with the President" over two federal judgeship appointments.

Asserting that he has no personal resentment against President Truman and is loathe to make the fight, Douglas quoted in the original German Luther's "God helping me, I can do no other" in explaining his stand. Luther was the 16th century friar who rebelled against the authority of the Pope of the Roman Catholic Church and set up the reformed church.

The Illinois senator explained his stand on the judgeship controversy to a reporter after he had announced he will oppose personally the nominations of Joseph J. Drucker and Cornelius J. Harrington when they come before the Senate Judiciary committee next week.

cer, expecting the usual off-the-record background talk on how things are going in Korea.

Instead, the spokesman announced the conference would be on the record, and began reading from a prepared typewritten sheet.

He let it be known—without identifying the unit—that one good-sized United Nations combat unit had been withdrawn from the battle area and sent back to Japan. This was the first hint of such a move. All previous reports had been that U. N. forces in Korea were organized at full strength for further combat, if necessary.

"Hanging On The Ropes"

The officer went on: "On May 16 the Chinese Communists launched a major offensive. . . By May 23 the Communist effort was broken and the Eighth Army moved immediately into counter-offensive. . . This was so effective that the Chinese Communists were driven back in confusion, losing over 100,000 men and suffering 10,000 prisoners. This was their most disastrous defeat. . .

"They were hanging on the ropes

"Acting in good faith, the U. N. (after cease fire talks were proposed) halted the advance. . . When in position to achieve even greater success.

Constant Buildup Since

"The picture since then has been one of constant and continuous (Communist) buildup behind screening forces. Artillery is nearer to our front lines than ever before. It is hoped that these acts are not an indication of bad faith. . .

That stood as entirely official until the late evening.

Then Clayton Fritchey, information director for the Defense Department, stepped in with just enough cold water to wash the official label off. Amid not-unexpected talk that Congress was likely to take a vivid interest in what had been pictured as treachery under the white flag, Fritchey told reporters:

"The briefing officer's on-the-record statement 'should not be construed as a defense policy or a change of policy, or a policy by the army Chief of Staff.' It was, Fritchey said, 'simply an officer giving advice' to newsmen and should be 'judged only as a comment. . .

TEXAS LUNCH, LEGION SNARE NARROW WINS

The Texas Lunch and Stanton Legion were victorious Friday evening in Softball league games, played to determine the setup for the championship, playoffs which will open next Wednesday night.

Through its 6-5 victory over the Moose in the opening game, the Texas Lunch gained the second-place spot in the title playoffs with the Moose taking over the third-place position. The teams had been deadlocked for second place at the conclusion of the regular season.

Junie Sachs' catch of Max Sherman's long drive deep in center field for the final out with a runner aboard was a life-saver for the Lunchmen in the first game which was closely contested all the way. After the Texas Lunch had scored a trio of runs in the opening innings, the Moose bounded back with four runs in the second, Sherman's home-run featuring the rally. The Texas Lunch came back with three in the third while the Moose picked up a run in the sixth.

In the first of two games to break a three-way tie for fourth place the Stanton Legion eliminated the Elks 6-4 in the nightcap.

As a result the Legion will meet the VFW Monday at 8 p.m. in a game which will decide the fourth place participant in the playoffs.

Two runs in the last of the sixth frame broke a 4-4 stalemate to give the Legion the decision.

Next Wednesday the winner of Monday's game will meet the Texas Lunch in the first game while the Moose will tangle with the Glenn L. Bream Garage team in the second game. The gamesmen finished first in the regular season.

Tickets for the Pennsylvania State Amateur Softball tournament to be held here August 17, 18 and 19 have been placed on sale at Hanky's store, South Washington street. The tickets may also be purchased from league officials.

YANKEES WIN OVER CHISOX BY HELP OF STORM

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

So you think the life of a major league manager is all peaches and cream? Well, listen to Paul Richards' tale of woe.

Richards, top candidate for manager of the year honors, led his Chicago White Sox into Yankee Stadium last night to battle the league-leading New York Yankees. The Yankees won, 3-1, by the grace of fickle fortune to retain their one game lead in the tight American league pennant race which finds the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians tied for second and the White Sox fourth, 4½ games off the pace.

Chicago, trying to climb back in the fight, entered the game nursing six defeats in its last seven games and a tongue lashing from Richards.

Richards To Protest
The Yankees led, 3-1, going into the ninth. The Sox scored a run with none out and had two runners on base when a thunderstorm halted play for about 15 minutes. Play was resumed and with one out, pinch-hitter Bert Haas socked a two-run single to put the Sox in front, 4-3. Another hit loaded the bases then the storm broke again. "Plate Umpire Hank Soar waited an hour and two minutes and then called the game. The act wiped out Chicago's lead and the score reverted to the end of eight innings and the Yanks were the victors."

Richards, hopping mad, announced that he would file a protest. "It wasn't playable" Richards fumed. "There is no such thing as an unplayable field. All they had to do was take the cover off, and they didn't do that."

Stengel In Argument
Home runs by Gene Woodling and Joe DiMaggio off Billy Pierce accounted for the Yankee lead going into the ninth. Rookie Tom Morgan then lost his stuff and before the rains ended the game four other Yankee pitchers saw action in the stormy inning.

Yank Manager Casey Stengel also got into an argument with the umpires. Stengel protested the banishment of third baseman Gil McDougald by Umpire Bill McKowan. McDougald walked over to talk with Morgan when he was pitching to Floyd Baker with two on and none out. McDougald promptly ejected McDougald for apparently delaying the game. Baker singled to make it 3-2 and the first storm broke.

After play resumed, Bob Dillinger forced Stewart at third but Don Lenhardt walked, and Haas and Nelson Fox singled before the second storm brought an end to the game.

The Indians edged the Red Sox, 3-2, in Boston to tie the Red Sox for second place. Home runs accounted for all of the scoring. Ray Boone belted two for the Indians including a game-winning blow in the ninth off Ellis Kiner. Al Rosen socked the other Indian homer and pinch-hitter Charley Maxwell homered with one on in the seventh off Bob Lemon for Boston.

In other American league games the Washington Senators defeated the St. Louis Browns, 7-0, and the Philadelphia Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 10-6.

Brooklyn, meanwhile, continued to roll along in the National league. The Dodgers overcame a five run deficit to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 12-9. Roy Campanella broke it up with a three-run homer in the ninth off Al Brazle. The victory was the Brooks' tenth straight over the Cards and it dumped the Red Birds out of third into fourth place in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The runner-up New York Giants, 9½ games behind the Dodgers, tamed the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3.

Howie Pollet yielded 13 hits and four home runs yet went all the way as the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the Boston Braves, 8-4.

The Phillies scored their third straight shutout as they beat the Chicago Cubs, 2-0, behind five-hit pitching by Bubba Church.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

By winning last night Hagerstown, York, Lancaster and Allentown all completed sweeps of two-game series with their Interstate league rivals.

Lancaster's fourth-place Red Roses moved to within two percentage points of Wilmington with a 5-3 decision over the Blue Rocks.

Both teams are now ten and a half games behind first-place Hagerstown.

The seventh-place York White Roses turned in a 5-2 victory over Harrisburg for their fourth straight win. Hagerstown's Braves maintained a six-game lead over the circuit with a 5-1 decision over the Sunbury Giants.

The runner-up Allentown Cardinals kept step with the Braves by blasting last-place Salisbury, 12-1, in a game delayed almost an hour by a power failure.

The Lancaster victory went to Bill Peters for his ninth triumph of the season. Peters gave up three hits and two runs in the first inning

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 28 (P)—When San Bernardino fans staged a "day" last spring for Dee Fondy, who started with the Cubs and now plays first base for Los Angeles, Fondy turned over the money they collected to start a kid team. . . . The team won the first-half title in the league. . . .

Latest report from the Dodger farm system shows only two clubs as low as fifth place in their leagues and eight of the 19 in first place. . . .

Tom Gallery, the reformed actor and fight and football promoter, has been put in charge of a new department to sign and sell major sports events for the Dumont television network. . . . First college football prospects of the season is just in from Texas Tech. . . .

Wonder what's become of them? Well, Rudy York still is blasting home runs (32 of them) as manager of the Old City, Pa., club in the Middle Atlantic league; Red Barrett, who used to pitch for the Braves, is managing and pitching for the Butler, Pa. Pirates, who are doing well in the same circuit under the Rickey regime, and Kory Higbe, the old Brooklyn favorite, is a winning pitcher for Jacksonville, Fla., in the Sally league.

YEAR, YEAR!

Al Warden, the Ogden, Utah, Standard-Examiner scribe, phoned Jack Dempsey after the Walcott-Chapman fracas and heard: "I've told Jack Kearns and told him I'm all ready to start training. I'm only 56 and in good shape. . . . Maybe it would be a good idea to have a round robin of all former heavyweight champions. James J. Jeffries is only 76. Tommy Burns, Jess Willard, Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera, Max Schmeling, Max Baer, James J. Braddock, Joe Louis, Ezzard Charles and yours truly. My, what a great field."

But Jersey Jones, vacationing in Florida, goes Dempsey one further in gags on a postcard from St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest city in the United States. . . . Says Jersey: "Had to stop off here to show my wife something older than Walcott."

When Paul Richards moved into the big leagues after managing at Buffalo, International League Secretary Bill Manley wrote him: "We'll miss you and all those fines." . . . Bill says Paul came close to the record for squawking at the ump but never squawked at paying fines. He'd just send a check and a note: "Here's another for your collection."

and then held the Blue Rocks to four safeties and a single tally the rest of the way.

Veteran York Southpaw Bill Stratton fashioned a neat six-hitting to keep the revitalized White Roses rolling. Three singles and a double accounted for three York runs in the seventh inning to sew up the game.

Hagerstown scored its five runs in two clusters. Three came over in the third and the other two in the sixth. Brave hurler Charley Miller picked up his 11th victory against six losses. The only Sunbury run scored on a triple and a single in the second inning. Allentown batters plastered two Salisbury pitchers with 13 hits including two triples and four doubles in scoring 12 tallies.

Cardinal pitcher Doug Clark allowed seven hits but never two in one inning.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
ON ENJOYING GOD

This whole earth is a museum of the works of our Creator. We cannot cast our eye in any direction without looking upon some thing of wonder or mystery. By the wayside scores of flowers bud and bloom which are not even noticed, but which, if analyzed and studied, would prove to be a picture of God.

I look out of my summer cabin window and see a variety of trees that fill me with admiration for their delicacy of construction and the power of their trunks. Every pine cone, needle, or leaf is a thing of wonder. The graceful white birches, which bend with the wind and sway their graceful trunks, remind one of a bride slowly walking to the altar, so solemn and beautiful is the event of each.

Every time you look upon anything in Nature you look on God, and enter into enjoyment of Him. And the more you study, observe and think, the keener God becomes to you and the more enjoyable His companionship. You can walk alone, yet you are not alone, for no matter where you go, or are, God is there to explain things and make things enjoyable. God meant all human beings to be happy, and to have justice and mercy dealt to all.

During this summer, when so many are experiencing new scenes and looking upon many a creation in nature, we rarely appreciate the fact that we are looking upon God—some fragment of His endless creative force. It may be a stream, a lake, an ocean, or just a tiny white flower plucked at random in one's walk. Every year I look for a tiny waxlike flower called the Maiden's Braid. Only a few examples are discovered on my little island each year, but whenever I look upon it I know that I am looking at God, enjoying Him, and wondering at His creative power, manifested even in the smallest flower or insect.

All the enjoyment we have in this world we owe to God, and since we do why don't we always enjoy Him to the full, and acknowledge Him to others?

THE WEDDING LINE
Old customs change, but Mrs. Post, who counsels hostess, guest and host. And is the first to give advice. On newer forms of conduct nice, holds sacred still the wedding line. From "two to four" or "seven to nine."

How oft I've crept on burning feet
To get the bride and groom to greet!
How oft I've staided ladies fair,
And led them to a nearby chair.
How oft I've seen men step aside,
"Too tired," they said, "to kiss the bride!"

As Mrs. Post has often told,
The wedding line's a custom old.
Though time has toppled thrones of kings

And genius bettered countless things,
While marriage lasts the line will stay
A "must" for every wedding day.

Member S.A.E.

Next time you're not sure your car will be able to climb over that mountain why not sit down and think it over?

Accent On Inspection

Time continues to demonstrate that one of the most important things you or your mechanic can do by way of safeguarding yourself and your car is to inspect regularly and carefully. It is surprising how much trouble can be caught red-handed if you are on your guard. This is not just idle preaching. I confess to not inspecting often enough but learned quite a lesson the day I didn't notice that the cover of the fuel filter was coming loose. When the oil let go the engine's bearings were saved by a hair.

But my reason for mentioning this is receipt of a copy of a letter written to the factory by a reader who suffered the experience of having a steering part come loose at 16,000 miles. He was lucky to have lived to register the complaint for the car went out of control. The point is that the car had been in for regular checking, but this had not been detailed or careful enough. There was warning, too, in the fact that both front tires were wearing unevenly.

The Motor Primer

The terms "static" and "dynamic" sound a bit formidable, but it helps to understand them if we picture what happens to the front wheels when there is lack of either type of wheel balance. If a wheel and its tire are out of static balance there will develop a sort of hopping action which is commonly referred to as wheel tramp. If a wheel is out of static balance it will always stop at the same low point if spun and allowed to come to rest. When there is lack of dynamic balance the wheel and tire develop a wobbling action commonly called shimmy. If you were to take a tracing of such wheel its track on the road would look like a wiggling snake.

Why It Goes Late

The reason the gap between breaker points should be checked before timing is tampered with is because the points have something to do with timing. If the points are not given sufficient gap the effect is to advance timing a little, while too wide gapping gives the effect of late timing. This will explain why an engine invariably goes late if neglected. Naturally there is wear on the breaker points so as to increase their gap. This retards the spark. In addition, there is a certain amount of change in the position of the distributor body itself due to loosening of the bolt that holds it in position.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Here in the shop we are always careful not to blame the voltage regulator, or even suspect it, until everything else has been carefully checked. We recall one case where the generator's field coils developed a ground, causing the generator to develop an abnormal charge. This the regulator couldn't control at all because the grounded field coils simply resulted in by-passing the regulator. Then the regulator overloaded, and the battery went dead when it failed to receive a charge. Of course, we found the regulator shot, but had we the new one would have gone bad, too."

Cleanliness continues to be one of the most important rules in care of the modern car. Keep it in mind when inspecting the fluid level in the brake master cylinder's reservoir. There is a little vent hole in the filler cap and it must be kept open. If clogged, there won't be escape of air when expanding fluid tries to work back into the reservoir through the compensating port. The result of this may be to cause the brakes to apply themselves or to start a fluid leak.

Ever Think Of It?

Often the less mileage a car has the more its starter-motor is used. Cars that travel the highway extensively usually cover a lot of mileage at one clip while those that make short runs around the city put extra demands on the starter-motor, battery and starter drive.

Rear tires travel farther than front ones, strange as it may seem. The explanation is slippage. Sliding the rear wheels when starting up or when trying to get out of mud, or snow, adds to their mileage. Hard mileage, too.

There are plenty of exceptions to the rule but it is believed by some of the experienced painters that a better job can be had by refinishing with the same materials used originally. That is, if the car was lacquered, use lacquer for the new glamour. If the original finish was synthetic enamel, this is better for the refinishing. One thing few consider is whether the metal of the car has been specially treated to check rusting. If so, sanding to the bare metal may destroy the protective treatment. Special chemicals for preparing the surface are desirable in such cases.

Worth Looking Back

Having recently read over an advertisement listing the advantages of one of the new cars the owner of a pre-war car sat down one evening and decided to list some of the things he and his friends find to be quite desirable on his car. Topping the list was the use of a separate key for the ignition. Because of this he can leave his car in a garage or on a parking lot and not worry about what's locked up in the glove or luggage compartments. His car carries two spares, and they are in fender wells where they don't take up valuable luggage space. There is a separate belt for the generator drive. The oil filler pipe is in a spot where spilled oil doesn't run down on the generator. There's an oil cup for lubricating the clutch throwout bearing. The slant of the windshield is just right to eliminate glare, and the horn ring goes all the way around the wheel instead of in a half moon. When the hood is raised you can work at the rear of the motor as easily as at the front.

Figuring The Build-Up

You'll get all sorts of advice regarding the proper tire pressures for your car, especially for the super cushion type. But take it easy. The rule is that the average tire will pick up about three pounds of air in steady city driving, winter or summer. So make that allowance when you check inflation which should always be done with the tires cool. On the highway tires will pick up five pounds if the car is driven steadily at road speed, summer or winter.

In The Motor Mail

Q. What would cause the motor to idle so roughly? Ignition has been checked over and a new fuel pump has been installed on the theory that the diaphragm of the vacuum pump was leaking. H. F. McB.

A. How about a compression test? You may find that several of the cylinders are very low. It is like trying to run the motor with unbalanced parts.

Q. I have been told that the finish on my car is synthetic enamel and that this should not be waxed. Wm. G.

A. The finish is this type all right, but go ahead and wax it. Use cold water for washing, not hot.

Q. For some time I have been having trouble with breaker points. They just wear away too rapidly, in spite of using good condensers of the right capacity. Any cure for this? G. R. W.

A. From your previous letters I understand that your work calls for long distance travel, and doubtless at high road speeds. Try using a 24 mld condenser. I think it will do the trick of safeguarding the points at speed.

Q. I have been having trouble with noise in the overhead valves of my engine. With hydraulic valve lifters this should not be the case. Would you suspect faulty parts? R. D. F.

A. The trouble here probably is failure to use the right type of oil filter element. The regular elements in this filter will cause too much restriction in the flow of oil to the top of the motor, and damage to the valve lifters will follow. Just another case of the importance of making sure you always have all the specific information regarding your particular make and MODEL of car.

Q. My engine is burning a lot of oil. There is no leakage, and tests show that compression is reasonably good in all of the cylinders. Where is the oil going? H. R. E.

A. How about loose connecting rod bearings? Or loose piston pin bushings? Any looseness at these points will cause more oil to be tossed off to the cylinder walls and will place an extra load on the rings.

Q. What is your personal view of the dependability of automatic window controls for passenger cars? W. L. C.

A. Sometimes it is well to look back when we want to see ahead. Over a million of one of these systems have been put into actual service on cars, and this has been carefully developed over a period of ten years.

Q. Would it protect a muffler to paint it? F. D. McN.

A. Mufflers usually rot from the inside out.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Connecticut, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

The youth expects to join his sisters later on as a tomato picker before the reopening of school. Gene's work is an achievement, because he has been in the care of doctors since his birth due to the fact that he was born with one foot and a portion of a leg missing and has had to be supplied regularly with artificial limbs to suit his steady growth. Several years ago, he attended one of the summer camps maintained by the needs of home and foreign missions, Sunday morning when special prayer will be offered for the missions and the membership dues may be deposited into the usual seat collection at both Masses.

4TH RED JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

New York, July 28 (AP)—A fourth Civil Rights Congress (CRC) bail fund trustee, Abner Green, was in jail today for refusing to assist the government's hunt for a quartet of fugitive, top-running Communists.

Jailing of Green on a contempt conviction yesterday was the top development as United States authorities pushed a home-front offensive against domestic Reds.

Another government action was a motion to force William Z. Foster, the ailing titular head of American communism, to supply a new $10,000 bail or go to jail. He currently is free on CRC bail, which has been outlawed by the Federal judge.

In San Francisco, bail was fixed at $50,000 each for seven of 12 California Communist leaders arrested on Thursday. Four others, unable to dig up $75,000 bail each, remained behind bars in Los Angeles.

The 12th secondary Communist, William Schneiderman, failed to get his $100,000 bond reduced before a Federal commissioner here. Schneiderman, the party's California chairman, reportedly has assumed the national leadership with other Red bigwigs in jail or hiding. Unable to put up the bond, he himself remained in jail.

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) said Friday a subcommittee he heads "will show how certain individuals, working together, influenced government policies out of which came the predicament we are in today."

The predicament he referred to, he told reporters, was the hold the Communists have obtained on China with the backing of Russia.

Thailand has an area of 200,148 square miles and a population of 17,977,000, about 4,000,000 more people than live in Canada.
